

STUDENT INTERNSHIP & INDUSTRIAL TRAINING PROGRAM

Digital Tycoon Technologies LLP

Top-tier businesses are rejecting job candidates without any actual experience in the fiercely competitive world of business.

Companies are searching for applicants, especially recent graduates, who are comfortable with the position and do not require much training. In situations like these, industrial training is essential.

WHAT IS INDUSTRIAL TRAINING?

- When students apply their academic knowledge to practical projects, this is referred to as industrial training. It aids in giving pupils the necessary exposure to a business or organization's operations.
- The students get knowledge on how to handle business issues effectively and courteously. Additionally, students get knowledge in working with customers, various software programs, report writing, and project management.
- Students have mentors throughout industrial training as well, who support and direct them at every turn.
- Students are required to work through challenges on their own during training, which boosts their confidence and enables them to make wiser job placement decisions.
